Department of Agriculture
State of Missouri
Jefferson City

Bob Holden
Governor

Lowell Mohler
Director of Agriculture

Greetings pumpkin fans!

It's time once again to load up the family and friends to visit a local pumpkin patch. Missouri's pumpkin farmers have the perfect pumpkins for every purpose, whether you're carving jack o'lanterns or using them in your favorite pumpkin recipe. Not only will your search for that perfect pumpkin yield quality fruit, you're bound to have a great time, too. You might even find yourself revisiting days gone by on a hayride or trying to find your way out of one of the many corn mazes found along the Missouri pumpkin trail.

The department is once again pleased to publish this directory to help you locate local pumpkin farmers. The directory also offers helpful carving hints, fun stories, activities for young pumpkin lovers, and unique recipes that have been pre-tested for tastiness.

Once you've sampled the excitement of a Missouri pumpkin farm, you'll know why so many consumers love AgriMissouri products. Enjoy!

Sincerely,

Pumpkin Facts

The pumpkin originated in Central America and has been grown in North America for 5,000 years.

Pumpkins were once recommended for removing freckles and curing snake bites!

Pumpkins range in weight from less than one pound to over 1,000 pounds. The largest pumpkin on record weighed 1,140 pounds.

The name pumpkin originated from the Greek word "pepon," meaning "large melon."

Pumpkins are 90% water, low in calories, fat, and sodium, high in fiber, and are a good source of vitamins A & B, potassium, iron, and proteins.

Pumpkin Pie Facts

The largest pumpkin pie ever made was more than five feet in diameter and weighed over 350 pounds. It used 80 pounds of cooked pumpkin, 36 pounds of sugar, 12 dozen eggs, and was baked for 6 hours!

In the Colonial days, pumpkins were used in the pie crust--not the filling.

The pumpkin pie actually originated when colonists cut the tops off of pumpkins, removed the seeds, and filled the resulting cavity with milk, spices, and honey. The pumpkin was then baked in hot ashes.

Another Peter Pumpkin Eater

by Florence Bostwell

Peter didn't crave rich treats like ice cream cones and gobs of sweets. In fact, he had just one demand: for pumpkins, either fresh or canned. "Big ones weighing 20 pounds are best," Pete said, "when chopped or ground. However, I'm most satisfied by pumpkin baked or pumpkin pied."

Now all the Peter pumpkin eating soon became too much treating; for Peter's modest pumpkin store now numbered 33 or more. In cupboards, closets, on the stairs, on book racks, tables, shelves, and chairs, in every kettle, pot and vat, was pumpkin THIS and pumpkin THAT.

A bit depressed and very quiet, Peter reflected on his diet.

"Pumpkins orange, pumpkins yellow, are tasty, luscious, firm and mellow. They team with things we all should eat, though not as much as milk and wheat.

I wonder, could it possibly be, my diet lacks variety?"

"That's it!" a friendly small voice said. "You've hit the problem on the head. You need a basic balanced diet.

I've read about it. Won't you try it?"

"I can't. I've pumpkin on to boil that I must eat or it will spoil."

"Share!" the voice said. "Share with others!
Neighbors, friends, dads, and mothers."

Well, Peter took the free advice and shared his pumpkin, every slice. But lest his friends share his sad fate, he tacked a big sign on his gate:

Free pumpkins here, my treat, my treat!
But please, dear friends, don't overeat!!

Jack O'Lantern Carving Tips

Knives are Sharp!

Adult Supervision Required!

1. Choose a pumpkin with no cuts or bruises.
2. Do not carry the pumpkin by its stem, as it may break and cause the fruit to bruise.
3. Select a large, well-shaped pumpkin for your Jack O'Lantern because they have less pulp than the smaller, heavier pumpkins.
4. Be sure to carve away from your body to prevent carving mishaps.
5. Try cutting off the bottom of the pumpkin, rather than the top. This will allow the pumpkin to sit flat and straight.
6. Use a soup ladle to remove the seeds from the interior of the pumpkin.
7. Draw on the pumpkin with a marker before you begin carving.
8. Carve facial features from the center out.
9. Use the tip of a potato peeler to make small circles or curves.
10. To attach a section that has been accidentally cut out, use a toothpick. Try using a toothpick to give your Jack O'Lantern ears, too!

Halloween Candy Holder

A great craft for kids young & old!
You can use this for trick or treating or as a decoration.

1. Find a large can, such as a coffee or spaghetti sauce can.
2. Wash and dry the can thoroughly, making sure to remove all the paper and sticky glue.
3. Paint the can with one coat of white paint, and allow the paint to dry.
4. Next, paint the can with a coat of orange paint, and allow to dry.
5. Then, using black paint or a black marker, draw a jack o'lantern face on the can.
6. Using a hammer and nail, punch two holes opposite one another into the top edges of the can.
7. Tie string or twine, using the holes you just punched to make a handle.
8. Now you have a fashionable, yet functional holiday decoration!
9. Another idea: try using smaller cans, then fill them with candy and use them as Halloween party favors.

Pumpkins aren't just for pie!

Mary & Angela Pulse

To cook pumpkin, wash and cut in half crosswise. Remove seeds and strings. Place pumpkin in a pan, shell side up. Bake at 325 degrees for one hour or more, depending on the size, until tender and pumpkin begins to fall apart. Scrape the pulp from the shell and put it through a ricer, strainer, or blender.
